The June e-bulletin is out and we have increased readership by triple within the first half of this year! Please forward to your members, post it on your website or contact me at csiraya@gmail.com to find ways that this can be made easier for your members to access. The purpose is so your members get the most membership benefits from being a part of the WSAVA. Items that will especially be relevant to veterinarians worldwide are:

Latest Guidelines! This amazing work by the WSAVA Global Pain Council is the “Guidelines for the Recognition, Assessment and Treatment of Pain” which was published by our educational partner JSAP. It is free for download at <http://onlinelibrary.wiley.com/enhanced/doi/10.1111/jsap.12200/>.

Now for the first time, the 4th and 5th vital signs, nutrition and pain, can finally be assessed worldwide under a common understanding.

You can also find these as well as the many other guidelines that the WSAVA body of international scholars have worked tirelessly to develop, for the end result of bringing veterinarians from anywhere in the world to a common standard. Go to <http://www.wsava.org/guidelines> to download all!

A new educational partner To benefit our members – your members, the WSAVA has partnered with many organizations to make education and continued learning accessible and affordable to all. The latest partnership is with Timeless Veterinary Systems to provide you with affordable access to the Timeless Vet Drug Index - an evidence-based drug formulary app for your mobile device. We have designed discounted rates and free subscriptions for WSAVA members and developing countries receiving WSAVA CE. To enable your members to take advantage of this offer they can easily register directly through the WSAVA website. Each country has been given a number of subscriptions equal to the amount of members you have declared. All online subscriptions will be sent individually to you to verify their membership status.

See all our partnerships soon to appear on our homepage at www.wsava.org
